

AUTO BANDITS HOLD UP SPRINGFIELD MAN NEAR XENIA FRIDAY EVENING

No Trace Has Been Found of Three Highwaymen, who Robbed Col. J. L. Mead, Auctioneer of Springfield, of $1,200 Tie Pin and Cash, on Dayton Pike

No trace has been found of the three automobile bandits who held up and robbed Col. J. L. Mead, auctioneer, North Fountain avenue, Springfield, of $175 in cash, a $1,200 diamond tie pin and Liberty Bonds and War Saving Stamps of unestimated value, at 6:45 o'clock, Friday night on the Dayton pike at Lucas Hill, two miles west of Xenia.

Thirty minutes after the daring hold-up had been perpetrated, police here were notified and had telephoned authorities in nearby cities to look out for the robbers. In the belief that they might have returned toward Dayton or would attempt another pike hold-up, Col. Mead, accompanied by the sheriff, drove out the Dayton pike again without results.

Col. Mead was robbed by two men who jumped off their automobile, when it had crowded Mead's car to the side of the road while coming up the steep incline at Lucas Hill while the third drove the bandit car. Ordering the lone motorist to continue driving toward Xenia, the bandits systematically relieved him of his valuables, and did not attempt to effect an escape, when the machine and the bandit car following it had reached North Galloway and Union Streets in this city. In a few minutes all trace of the bandits had been lost.

Col. Mead was returning from Dayton, where he had been on a business trip at the time of the hold-up. He sensed the fact that the car in his wake was trailing him, but believed it must have been occupied by pike police.

Near the foot of Lucas Hill the bandits motioned to Mead to stop and when he refused they flourished revolvers without effect. By this time the cars were on the hill and the bandit's machine crowded in front of Mead's car.

As his machine almost stopped, two men wearing aviator's caps and goggles over their eyes hopped on the running boards, each leveling a revolver at their victim.

Climbing into the machine, the bandits ordered him to continue driving on toward Xenia, while they removed the money, bonds, and diamonds from his clothes. When they entered the machine, Col. Mead turned in an attempt to see for purposes of identification, the bandit car, but was roughly ordered to keep his eyes to the front. The odd procession continued that way into Xenia, traveling east on Market Street to Galloway, where the driver was ordered to turn north. Near Union street, the bandits ordered him to stop while they lighted and then told him to continue on in the direction he was headed. They stepped into their own machine, which turned north on Union to King. Mead continued on Galloway another block, and also turned, through to King, but the bandit car had disappeared. The victim of the hold-up then hurried to police headquarters where he notified Sergeant James Sowdis, who in turn called police of Dayton and other cities and notified the Sheriff.

Police of other cities were watching main highways late at night in an effort to apprehend the highwaymen, although they were supplied with a meagre description of the car and the men.

Although they systematically searched the Springfield man for valuables, the bandits overlooked a diamond ring valued at $3,000, which he was wearing at the time.

Wolfe Lindenfeld Now in Washington Where he Will Be Questioned in Connection With Wall Street Explosion.

Washington, Dec. 2.—A dark veil of secrecy was thrown around by officials about Wolfe Lindenfeld, who has just returned from Europe for questioning about the famous Wall street bomb explosion of 1920.

Whether Lindenfeld returned on his own accord or whether he was brought back, officials declined to say. It is known however that a government operative accompanied him.

William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation, will interrogate Lindenfeld. When Lindenfeld was arrested in Warsaw, Poland, a year ago, Burns indicated that the man "knew all about" the Wall street explosion. Burns today refused to discuss the case.

The department has adopted unusual methods, to keep Lindenfeld from public view. Special precautions were taken to allow Lindenfeld to slip into Washington unobserved, when he was wanted here for questioning.

The charges which formed the basis for Lindenfeld's arrest in Poland, were suspended last June. When the prosecution on the bomb charges was stopped it was declared Mrs. Lindenfeld, who was in New York, would take legal steps to recover money for the false arrest of her husband by the government.

Later Lindenfeld was rearrested in Poland for the alleged acceptance of money for passport visas.

Lindenfeld was in New York at the time of the Wall Street disaster. He was sent to Poland by William J. Burns. Later Lindenfeld was trailed by a government agent, and his arrest followed in Warsaw.

PRINCE ANDREW CHARGED WITH DISOBEDIENCE

Military Tribunal Trys Army Officer Blamed With Defeat

Revolutionary Situation in Thrace Causes Alarm in Greek Capital

Athens, Dec. 2.—Ignoring the protests of Britain and Italy, the Greek revolutionary committee today arraigned Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine, before a military tribunal, charging him with disobedience while commanding an army corps in the Turco-Greek war in Asia Minor.

(Note: A censorship of Friday prevented transmission of press messages out of Athens on Thursday. There was apparently a relaxation on the part of the Greek revolutionary officials today as dispatches were received without interruption, telling of the arraignment of Prince Andrew.)

General Vlachopoulos is chairman of the extraordinary war council that is trying Andrew. The hearing is taking place in the chamber of deputies. Troops are on guard outside but the city is quiet.

Andrew was allowed to testify in his own behalf. He defends all his actions on the military field and declares that Greece was always first in his heart and mind.

Vigorous efforts had been made to prevent the trial of Prince Andrew. Both Great Britain and Italy had sent notes to Athens and King George had expressed the wish at Athens to abdicate when he learned that the revolutionary committee was determined to go ahead with the trial.

The British royal family as well as members of the Hellenic royal family scattered through continental Europe are anxious over the fate of Andrew. His wife is a sister of Lord Mountbatten, who is related to the royal family of England.

It is understood that Andrew's defense is that the Greek military catastrophe in the Turkish war would have been even greater if he had not disobeyed orders sent to him from Athens.

Eleutherios Venizelos, former Greek premier and head of the Greek delegation in the Near East peace conference, is expected to return to Athens from Lausanne next week. He will not attempt to enter the Greek ministry, but according to reports, will strive to have a new cabinet constructed which will be favorable to his policies.

Venizelos would like to have either M. Politis or M. Michalakopoulos succeed Colonel Gonatas as prime minister.

The revolutionary situation in Thrace is causing alarm in the Greek capital. General Nider has resigned as commander of the Greek army in Thrace because he was unable to maintain discipline among troops.

A fresh burden has been imposed upon the Greek government by the agreement at Lausanne to exchange the Greek and Turkish civilian populations as a result of the realignment of the Turkish frontiers. Under the agreement all he Turks living in territory under Greek sovereignty will leave for Turkey while more than 1,000,000 Greeks living on Turkish soil will return to Greece.

AMERICA EXERTING INFLUENCE AT THE NEAR EAST PARLEY

Washington, Dec. 2.—It was made known at the white house that the administration believes the achievements of the American delegates at the Lausanne near east peace conference will surpass the imagination.

This was stated in connection with a statement on behalf of President Harding that confidential reports showed so far everything is "going along fine and most acceptably."

America "is not without her proper influence at Lausanne," in the view of the administration. The United States, it was declared, also desires to be helpful at the conference, although this government, "or at least this administration, had nothing to do with the near east situation or what brought it about."

At the same time it was declared that the American government does not believe any action or nonaction on its part has had any effect on the situation in Greece. This statement was made on behalf of the executive as the result of a letter he received from Paxton Hibben, son of the president of Princeton university, who is now in this country after a residence of several years in the near east.

Although no further comment was made at the white house on the letter, it was understood that Mr. Hibben took the position that if the United States had recognized the Constantinian government, subsequent events, such as the execution of former cabinet ministers, never would have occurred.

President Obregon has assured the public that the water supply will be normal by tonight at midnight.

PROGRESSIVE SCORES MELLON; CRITICIZES RICH TAX DODGER

Governor John J. Blaine, of Wisconsin, Raps Secretary of Treasury in Address Before Conference in Washington On Saturday.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Teasing into the rich tax dodger as "just as much of a criminal as the embezzling bank official," Governor John J. Blaine of Wisconsin, sharply criticized Secretary Mellon before a gathering today of notable progressive men and women in and out of Congress.

"Suppose Mr. Mellon would scourge the profiteer and the millionaire with the same vigor he does lesser criminals," demanded the governor. "Suppose he would really try to enforce the taxes assessed against the rich? Is it true that the government is powerless to enforce the law against the rich, or is it just a lack of desire on Mr. Mellon's part to place all taxes on an equality before the law?"

The meeting today signalled the opening of the second and final day of the series of progressive conferences to mould a program of "non-partisan, constructive legislative action" in Congress.

Elimination from the income tax law of the clause imposing secrecy upon returns as the most effective remedy for tax dodgers was proposed by Gov. Blaine, who stood shoulder to shoulder with Senator LaFollette in the triumphant progressive sweep of Wisconsin on November 7.

Samuel Gomper, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the center of a group of organized labor leaders who shared front seats with Representatives of agricultural and other organizations.

The progressive conference will close tonight with a dinner, for which accommodations for 800 have been made. The speakers at the dinner, it is announced, will include Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney; Senator LaFollette and former Senator Bristow of Kansas.

The congressional bloc's resolutions pledged members to co-operate in behalf of progressive legislation, to be brought forth by committees of the bloc during the present and next congress.

A general program announced includes as subjects agriculture, labor, railroads, taxation, shipping, natural resources, direct primaries, corrupt practices act and constitutional amendments to abolish the electoral college and obtain earlier meetings of congresses.

Senator Norris was chosen to preside over the conference, at which Representative Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, was named secretary, but election of permanent officers was deferred.

Legislation purposes of the bloc were emphasized by speakers. Senator LaFollette said that politics or a third party movement were not involved, while Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, expressed his "complete sympathy" with the movement, if designated to obtain progressive legislation. He declared, however, against dealing with "political subjects or presidential possibilities."

MILLION TURKS AND GREEKS TO LEAVE COUNTRY

Allies Endorse Plan to Force Peoples to Return to Own Nations

TO AVOID MASSACRES Near East Peace Conference Apparently Unable to Arrange Terms

Lausanne, Dec. 2.—The greatest exodus of populations in modern history affecting more than 1,000,000 Greeks and Turks, will begin at once under the terms of agreement approved by the Allied Powers in the Near East peace conference.

Within the next two weeks all the Greeks living in territory under Turkish sovereignty must sell out their goods and effects to Mussulmans and leave Turkey. At the same time the Turks living on Greek soil will depart and return to Turkish soil. It was explained today that the Allied delegates had consented to this arrangement because they feared if Christians remained upon Turk soil they might be massacred after the peace treaty is signed.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, chairman of the international commission of Russian famine relief who had been instructed to make recommendations as to the best method of safeguarding the minority (Christian) population in Asia Minor, said he was convinced that the exchange of civil populations by Turkey and Greece was the best way to solve the difficulty, although it would work great hardship upon the peoples. But hardships he added, were better than death.

Indications gathered today that the conference would be unable to bring about permanent peace in the Near East. Lord Curzon, head of the British delegation is attempting to wind up the conference as quickly as possible fearing an open rupture between the two blocs—Allied and Russo-Turkish.

In some quarters belief is prevalent that the discussion of the Turkish straits next week will bring about a deadlock which will make it necessary to adjourn the conference over Christmas, giving the delegates an opportunity to strive for amity in private meetings in the meantime.

The program to make Saturday an idle day was hastily revised early in the morning when it appeared evident that a recess would be taken over Christmas. Four sub-commissions and the commission of Turkish capitulations were all summoned to meet during the afternoon.

Ismet Pasha demanded that all the capitulations imposed upon Turkey by the allies after the world war be removed. These were designed to protect foreign lives and business interests in Turkey. Chief of them were:

1—Extra territorial rights for non-Turkish residents accused of crime;

2—Control of Turkish banks;

3—Maintenance of allied military police and a commission to regulate sanitation.

Approval of the plan for the exchange of Turco-Greek civil populations is a decided victory for the Turks. They came to Lausanne with the slogan:

"Turkey for Turks only," and they have made good on it.

This exchange of civilians settles the question of protecting Christians in Turkey for there won't be any Christians left there, except a few teachers and missionaries.

There are three big questions before the conference in addition to a multitude of side issues. They are:

1—Future of the Turkish straits;

2—Rectification of the Turkish frontiers;

3—Disposition of Turkish mineral rights and the Turkish debt question which is involved with it.

The progressive conference will close tonight with a dinner, for which accommodations for 800 have been made. The speakers at the dinner, it is announced, will include Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney; Senator LaFollette and former Senator Bristow of Kansas.

The congressional bloc's resolutions pledged members to co-operate in behalf of progressive legislation, to be brought forth by committees of the bloc during the present and next congress.

A general program announced includes as subjects agriculture, labor, railroads, taxation, shipping, natural resources, direct primaries, corrupt practices act and constitutional amendments to abolish the electoral college and obtain earlier meetings of congresses.

Senator Norris was chosen to preside over the conference, at which Representative Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, was named secretary, but election of permanent officers was deferred.

Legislation purposes of the bloc were emphasized by speakers. Senator LaFollette said that politics or a third party movement were not involved, while Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, expressed his "complete sympathy" with the movement if designated to obtain progressive legislation. He declared, however, against dealing with "political subjects or presidential possibilities."

PRESIDENT FAVORS DYER BILL; HOUSE DRAWS DISPLEASURE

Harding Not Satisfied With Action Taken on Ship
Bill.

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Harding was not entirely satisfied with the shipping bill as it was passed by the house, it was declared at the white house.

The executive, it was declared, never had recommended anything to congress in which he had a more sincere interest, and he felt it to be inconceivable that congress would fail to give "the needed aid" to the American merchant marine when there was such an economic loss involved in the destruction of the great fleet built up during the war. The executive was said to feel that there will be "no hard sledding for the bill, except the rules of the upper house," and that it would be enacted into law.

President Harding personally favors the enactment of the Dyer anti-lynching bill, it was declared at the white house, although it was made clear that the executive would make no comment concerning the Democratic filibuster in the senate. The executive, it was added, feels that a lynching is a "very sore spot on our boast of civilization."

MILLION TURKS AND GREEKS TO LEAVE COUNTRY

TO AVOID MASSACRES
Near East Peace Conference Apparently Unable to Arrange Terms

Lausanne, Dec. 2.—The greatest exodus of populations in modern history affecting more than 1,000,000 Greeks and Turks, will begin at once under the terms of agreement approved by the Allied Powers in the Near East peace conference.

Within the next two weeks all the Greeks living in territory under Turkish sovereignty must sell out their goods and effects to Mussulmans and leave Turkey. At the same time the Turks living on Greek soil will depart and return to Turkish soil. It was explained today that the Allied delegates had consented to this arrangement because they feared if Christians remained upon Turk soil they might be massacred after the peace treaty is signed.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, chairman of the international commission of Russian famine relief who had been instructed to make recommendations as to the best method of safeguarding the minority (Christian) population in Asia Minor, said he was convinced that the exchange of civil populations by Turkey and Greece was the best way to solve the difficulty, although it would work great hardship upon the peoples. But hardships he added, were better than death.

Indications gathered today that the conference would be unable to bring about permanent peace in the Near East. Lord Curzon, head of the British delegation is attempting to wind up the conference as quickly as possible fearing an open rupture between the two blocs—Allied and Russo-Turkish.

In some quarters belief is prevalent that the discussion of the Turkish straits next week will bring about a deadlock which will make it necessary to adjourn the conference over Christmas, giving the delegates an opportunity to strive for amity in private meetings in the meantime.

The program to make Saturday an idle day was hastily revised early in the morning when it appeared evident that a recess would be taken over Christmas. Four sub-committees and the commission of Turkish capitulations were all summoned to meet during the afternoon.

Ismet Pasha demanded that all the capitulations imposed upon Turkey by the allies after the world war be removed. These were designed to protect foreign lives and business interests in Turkey. Chief of them were:

- 1—Extra territorial rights for non-Turkish residents accused of crime;
- 2—Control of Turkish banks;
- 3—Maintenance of allied military police and a commission to regulate sanitation.

Approval of the plan for the exchange of Turco-Greek civil populations is a decided victory for the Turks. They came to Lausanne with the slogan:

"Turkey for Turks only," and they have made good on it.

This exchange of civilians settles the question of protecting Christians in Turkey for there won't be any Christians left there, except a few teachers and missionaries.

There are three big questions before the conference in addition to a multitude of side issues. They are:

- 1—Future of the Turkish straits;
- 2—Rectification of the Turkish frontiers;
- 3—Disposition of Turkish mineral rights and the Turkish debt question which is involved with it.

MEXICO CITY NOW IN DEEP MOURNING

Mexico City, Dec. 2.—With the whole city in mourning and all the theaters closed, a funeral took place this afternoon of the 14 persons killed Thursday night when policemen opened fire with machine guns upon a crowd of 30,000 men and women who were protesting against the lack of water.

A general "mourning strike" was called, effective until tonight.

President Obregon has assured the public that the water supply will be normal by tonight at midnight.

Expert mechanics are hard at work repairing the damage done to the collapsed water plant by inefficient workmen nearly two weeks ago.

The city was still without water this morning but was quiet. Large forces of troops were held in readiness in event that disorders broke out during the funeral.

CLARK COUNTY WILL MEET TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL DEFICIT

Clark County's share of the appropriation fixed by the trustees as necessary to operate the district tuberculosis hospital at Springfield, will be forthcoming.

This was the decision reached after a joint meeting of the Clark County Commissioners, the Auditor of Clark County and the Clark County Prosecuting Attorney with Greene County Commissioners, Auditor D. O. Wead, Prosecutor J. Kenneth Williamson, Dr. R. H. Grube, Greene County's representative on the board of trustees, Friday afternoon.

The agreement of Clark County to meet the amount set aside as its share of the appropriation, is expected to mean that the hospital will be able to operate without its income, and pay off deficits that have been piling up for several years due to action of different county budget commissions in cutting the amount assigned to the different counties as their share in the cost.

According to Dr. Grube, the trustees annually fix an appropriation amount designed to cover the year's expenses. Shares of this appropriation are then assigned to the different counties, based on the average of the number of patients sent from that county to the hospital. Recently the budget commission in each county has been cutting this appropriation over the demands of the trustees, and Clark County's share has been cut to such an extent as to hinder further operation of the hospital and possibly necessitate its discontinuance.

The last appropriation asked for by the trustees was $43,000 to take care of operating expenses, upkeep and deficits, some of long standing. Clark County's share was $31,000 that county sending more than two or three times as many patients to the hospital as the other counties. The Clark County Budget Commission's cut in the appropriation, therefore, made further operation of the hospital impossible. Greene County met the share assigned for this county and the meeting held Friday was to present the necessity for meeting their share to the Clark County Commissioners.

Dr. Grube pointed out that the hospital is accomplishing much in fighting the disease and that it is further required by law to maintain the institution. If the counties do not meet the appropriation assigned to each, he pointed out, it will be impossible to operate the hospital. The session took several hours, at the end of which time the Clark County Commissioners agreed to meet the amount assigned to them.

Opening of TOYLAND

LITTLE boy, little girl, come take hold of my hand,
And we'll wander off to a wonderful land,
Where blocks to build castles are shiny and red,
And for each darling doll there's a dear little bed.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

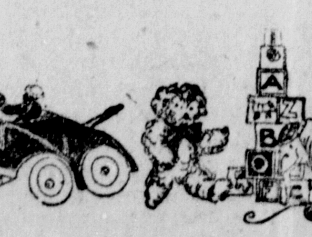

Trains that go whizzing around glistening tracks
Are some of the things Santa brought in his packs
There's a woolly white lamb that goes "Bah, bah,"
And a dolly that walks and can say "Mama,"
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

Yes indeed Santa Claus from his home in the north,
Behind Donner and Blitzen again sallied forth,
And he's right here in Toyland to talk with each child,
And to give you a present—way high are they piled.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

Mother will bring you to Toyland, I know,
If to school and to bed right on time you will go;
And when you're asleep and sail out on a dream
You'll think of the toys that are here to be seen.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place

Opening of TOYLAND

LITTLE boy, little girl, come take hold of my hand,
And we'll wander off to a wonderfull land,
Where blocks to build castles are shiny and red,
And for each darling doll there's a dear little bed.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

Trains that go whizzing around glistening tracks
Are some of the things Santa brought in his packs
There's a woolly white lamb that goes "Bah, bah,"
And a dolly that walks and can say "Mama,"
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

Yes indeed Santa Claus from his home in the north,
Behind Donner and Blitzen again sallied forth,
And he's right here in Toyland to talk with each child,
And to give you a present—way high are they piled.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

Mother will bring you to Toyland, I know,
If to school and to bed right on time you will go;
And when you're asleep and sail out on a dream
You'll think of the toys that are here to be seen.
Oh, Toyland, my dears, is a wonderful place
Lighted up all around with old Santa's dear face!

TAFT IS NAMED AS WITNESS IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Washington, Dec. 2.—Representative Keller (Rep., Minn.), in a statement to the house judiciary committee, named Chief Justice Taft as a witness to be called in support of his demand for the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty.

The chief justice was desired to testify, Mr. Keller wrote, in connection with his charge, formally filed, that Attorney General Daugherty had appointed "untrustworthy, corrupt and dangerous men" to high office, knowing at the time that they were men of such character.

George W. Wickersham, former attorney general; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Guy Oyster, Mr. Gompers' secretary, also were mentioned by Mr. Keller as other witnesses he would ask the committee to summon as to this particular allegation.

Setting forth 14 specific grounds for impeachment, Mr. Keller alleged that Mr. Daugherty had practiced "fraud and deceit" on Mr. Taft while president to obtain the release from prison of Charles W. Morse, and that on Morse's failure to pay Daugherty's associates in the pardon proceedings an agreed fee, he "prostituted" the office of attorney general for "personal revenge" by obtaining an indictment of Morse.

In his letter to Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee Mr. Keller said the specifications he enclosed "set out and I am prepared to prove that the said Daugherty is guilty of serious misconduct, highly prejudicial to the public interest; of grave abuse of his discretionary powers; of wilful and repeated violations of his oath of office and of high crimes and misdemeanors in 14 particulars, each one of which is supported by numerous instances."

"If any of these 14 specifications can be said to be more important than any other," said Mr. Keller, "it is that group that relates to the refusal and neglect of the said Harry M. Daugherty to enforce the anti-trust laws of the United States of America."

Among other charges made by Mr. Keller are: "Flagrant and bold favoritism in the administration of justice, on behalf of corporations, companies and individuals owned or controlled by or affiliated with the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Company;" "continued submission to the influence of corporations and individuals of great wealth and power in the administration of justice and the deliberate conniving at the looting of one of the naval oil reserves;" and "gross favoritism, deliberate refusal to prosecute war grafters, failure and refusal to recover moneys stolen from the treasury of the United States in connection with war frauds."

Dayton, O., Dec. 2.—Blockie Richards, Dayton featherweight and Mickey O'Dowd, featherweight champion of Indiana, will be the principals in a twelve round decision bout to be staged at the Lakeside park arena, this city, Wednesday night Dec. 6.

The Richard-O'Dowd battle will top a program that is billed as an all star program. This bout has been in the making for several months. O'Dowd accused Blockie of sidestepping offers for a meeting and became so insistent that he came to Dayton and posted a large sum that he can take the local boy's measure. There is no love between these two and no doubt it will be one of the hardest fought battles ever staged in this city.

ANNOUNCES ALL OHIO FOOTBALL SELECTION

Delaware, Dec. 2.—Coach George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan has been the first to appear upon the scene with an All-Ohio Conference eleven. Gauthier places six Denison and seven Wesleyan players on his two first teams and states that in doing so he is prompted not by partisanship but by the fact that he considers Denison and Wesleyan to have had the finest gridiron material in the conference this year.

His choices for the first and second All-Ohio teams are as follows: First All-Ohio, Richards (Oberlin) and Jefferson (Denison) ends; Smith (Ohio Wesleyan) and Thompson (Ohio Wesleyan) tackles; McClain (Denison) and Laporte (Wooster) guards; Ballinger (Ohio Wesleyan) center; Sacksteder (Ohio Wesleyan) quarterback; Wood (Oberlin) and Winter (Ohio Wesleyan) half back; Perry (Miami) fullback.

Second All-Ohio, Loehman (Miami) and Hummon (Wittenberg) ends; Jefferson (Ohio University) and Willis (Denison) tackles; Armheim (Ohio Wesleyan) and Stedman (Denison) guards; Calhoun (Denison) center; Willis (Denison) quarterback; Heberling (Wittenberg) and Davis (St. Xavier) half backs; Turney (Ohio Wesleyan) fullback.

FINAL REHEARSAL FOR LEGION SHOW IS HELD FRIDAY

Final rehearsal of the cast of the American Legion Minstrel Revue of 1922, to be presented at City Hall Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday under the auspices of Foody Post, No. 95, was held at the theater Friday night under the direction of Ed Adamson and J. T. McCann, directors, of Dayton.

The annual home talent production will be staged Monday night for the benefit of pupils from the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home, who will be met by an escorting party of Legionnaires at the Home gate, and for the children of the County Children's Home, who will be brought to the performance in the Dayton-Xenia auto bus, which has been donated for that purpose.

Harry Carper of Dayton, is musical director of the piece, which opens with Ed Adamson and H. E. Kiernan, as black face premisses, in a radio skit. A moment later and the old fashioned minstrel circle occupies the stage. Besides the premisses, Geo. Schwartz, Roy C. Hayward, William Overholser and Elmer Shafer, are the end men. J. T. McCann acts as inter-locutor. In the circle are George Sugden, Ernest Pummell, V. G. Martin, James Leahy, Max Sauer, A. Kronenberger, Raymond Horen, J. K. Berger, G. A. Pillsbury, George Cost, C. E. Masters, Lawrence O. Tiffany, Francis Lucas and Don Clark.

The soloists are George Sugden, who sings "Barefoot Trail," Roy C. Hayward, "Lonesome Mammy Blues," C. E. Masters, "Time After Time," H. E. Kiernan, "Brother Low Down," Max Sauer, "A Son of the Desert Am I," George Schwartz, "Taint Nobody's Business If I Do," V. G. Martin, "Why Should I Cry Over You," Ed Adamson, "If You Don't Believe I'm Leavin'," A. Kronenberger, "Ill Forget You," J. K. Berger, "Yankee Doodle Blues," with Miss Alma Conklin as "Miss Liberty."

The olio features Miss Frances Loyd and her "Jazz Babies" in the numbers, "Hot Lips," "Nobody Lied," and "Dancing Fool," E. Adamson and Max Sauer, present "The Battling Game," a comedy sketch. The new jazz orchestra "The Syncopators," present a musical number. Miss Helen Ford and Don Clark have a comedy sketch, "Married Life," singing, "Just Because You're You." The Dixie Trio, composed of E. Adamson, Max Sauer and A. Kronenberger, have some comedy lines and sing "Harmony Hounds," "Don't Send Me Posters," "Suez" and "Homesick."

The second part is a brief comedy skit, called "The Wozy Cruisers" in which H. E. Kiernan, J. T. McCann, George Schwartz, William Overholser, Miss Mildred McDonald, Miss Dorothy Hester, J. K. Berger and Raymond Horen, have parts. The dancing girls in this act are Misses Marjorie Clark, Marie Mangan, Cleo DeVoe, Mildred McDonald, Alma Conklin, Helen Ford, Dorothy Hester, Anna Kester, Olivia Cost, Edna Miller and Frances Loyd. The skit is in two scenes. During the action of the afterpiece the following song numbers are introduced with the choruses, violin solo, "Souvenir," by Miss Mary Noble, accompanied by Miss Imogene Mullen; "Night" by the girls, with a solo dance by Miss Marjorie Clark, "Kill 'em With Kindness," Miss Marjorie Clark and girls; "Lalawana Lullaby," Miss Frances Loyd and chorus; "Isle of Borneo," Miss Helen Ford and girls; "Island of Koo Koo," J. K. Berger and chorus.

The production will be staged for the public Tuesday and Wednesday nights and the early demand for seats indicates that the City Hall Theater will be filled for both performances.

TAFT IS NAMED AS WITNESS IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Washington, Dec. 2.—Representative Keller (Rep., Minn.), in a statement to the house judiciary committee, named Chief Justice Taft as a witness to be called in support of his demand for the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty.

The chief justice was desired to testify, Mr. Keller wrote, in connection with his charge, formally filed, that Attorney General Daugherty had appointed "untrustworthy, corrupt and dangerous men" to high office, knowing at the time that they were men of such character.

George W. Wickham, former attorney general; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Guy Oyster, Mr. Gompers' secretary, also were mentioned by Mr. Keller as other witnesses he would ask the committee to summon as to this particular allegation.

Setting forth 14 specific grounds for impeachment, Mr. Keller alleged that Mr. Daugherty had practiced "fraud and deceit" on Mr. Taft while president to obtain the release from prison of Charles W. Morse, and that on Morse's failure to pay Daugherty's associates in the pardon proceedings an agreed fee, he "prostituted" the office of attorney general for "personal revenge" by obtaining an indictment of Morse.

In his letter to Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee Mr. Keller said the specifications he enclosed "set out and I am prepared to prove that the said Daugherty is guilty of serious misconduct, highly prejudicial to the public interest, of grave abuse of his discretionary powers; of wilful and repeated violations of his oath of office and of high crimes and misdemeanors in 14 particulars, each one of which is supported by numerous instances."

"If any of these 14 specifications can be said to be more important than any other," said Mr. Keller, "it is that group that relates to the refusal and neglect of the said Harry M. Daugherty to enforce the anti-trust laws of the United States of America."

Among other charges made by Mr. Keller are: "Flagrant and bold favoritism in the administration of justice, on behalf of corporations, companies and individuals owned or controlled by or affiliated with the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Company," "continued submission to the influence of corporations and individuals of great wealth and power in the administration of justice and the deliberate conniving at the looting of one of the naval oil reserves," and "gross favoritism, deliberate refusal to prosecute war grafters, failure and refusal to recover moneys stolen from the treasury of the United States in connection with war frauds."

SELLING CAMPAIGN IS DISCUSSED BY EMPLOYEES OF STORE

Plans for a December selling campaign in which all four branch stores of the Kennedy Grocery Company here will take part, were discussed and settled at a dinner tendered employees by company officials at the West Main Street store Friday night.

Plans for the campaign include weekly sales during December in each of the Kennedy stores, each of a special type. Each salesman in the employ of the company at the different stores has been assigned a selling quota for the month, in part of what the company hopes to make the biggest December in point of sales in the history of the organization.

After the dinner served in the West Main Street store Friday night, W. J. Kennedy, president of the company, acted as toastmaster and with a brief talk to the employees introduced R. E. Dunkle, secretary and treasurer, who explained the new selling plan to the employees and the system of sales to be held. Plans were also laid at the meeting for the annual children's parties to be held at the stores during Christmas week, and for the annual Christmas candy sales, which features the business campaign of these stores on the advent of each holiday period.

Those present at the dinner were Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Dunkle, Robert Hurley, Harry Moore, Henry Dunkle, Dale Washburn, James Bryson, Emerson Osman and Walter Bentley.

WHAT THANKSGIVING MEANS TO ALL OF US.

We live in a land where there is less of war breeding hatred, more of human comradeship and contentment, more of wealth and comfort, more of privilege and opportunity than any other has ever known. We are citizens of a representative republic where public opinion is dominant in government. It is only necessary that this public opinion shall continue to be in the future, as it has been in the past, enlightened and just, to make of our government the most perfect expression of the wisest and loftiest political purposes of men it is possible within human limitations to evolve.

We do not know that God is more the friend of one nation than of another. We know that He helps those who help themselves. This nation is our rich heritage from those who through service and sacrifice have made it what it is. It is our duty and opportunity to transmit that heritage undiminished, hat Thanksgiving may not lose its meaning to those who come after us. Dedication to that task is the really worth while sentiment of Thanksgiving Day.

BUSINESS FRIENDSHIP.

A sermon on the gospel of business is contained in an editorial in the Miami Herald in the following: "An interesting illustration of the passing of business hatred is shown upon the last page of the special edition of The Herald for Tuesday. This page contains an advertisement in which are set forth hearty congratulations to the First National Bank from the other banks of the city upon the completion of its new building."

It is perhaps that spirit among Miami business men that has made of it the "Magic City." When men who are competing for business along such honorable lines that they still consider themselves co-workers for the common good of the city, and can congratulate each other upon any extraordinary success the magic city is easily accounted for.

Continuing, the Herald says: "It is a decidedly significant thing that the business world has learned that friendship is the only safe basis on which to build commercial life. Some day the lesson will be learned in some other fields, such as international policies."

COSTLY CHAIN LETTERS.

The Saturday Evening Post presents some totals in regard to chain letters which should be of interest to the many victims of these missives. If the sender of a single chain letter were successful in his attempts to have it sent by each of nine different persons to nine other persons, and so on for 10 sendings, more than three billion people would receive such letters. That would mean somewhere around seventy millions of dollars for postage and tons of stationery, all wasted on a very useless communication.

Fortunately not all the receivers of these silly and occasionally harmful documents are fools enough to forward them. The chain is broken frequently, but not so frequently as it should be. Timid and superstitious folk who are afraid not to forward such letters are to be both pitied and blamed. If they wish to be classed among the same and wholesome-minded they should join the increasing ranks of those who cheerfully and promptly consign all chain letters to the waste basket.

THE SIN OF "NAGGING."

Here we are, all travelers over the same rough road together; and instead of cheering each other along we spend a good portion of the journey in criticism and nagging and the vain effort to get others to do things as we think they ought to be done. How different history might have been if the great men of the world had had a little encouragement, instead of a constant stream of criticism and abuse!

"Lincoln was called a 'despot,' a 'tyrant' waging a war 'to free the blacks and enslave the whites,' a war that could have been settled long before, his critics said, if he had only had sense enough to take their advice. No other man in history has ever been more persistently nagged.

"Even Jesus of Nazareth had his share of nagging. He, too, found that no one can please the naggers, no matter what he does. 'John came, neither eating nor drinking,' He said, 'and you said, "he hath a devil." I came eating and drinking and you said, "Behold a man gluttonous and a wine-bibber."'

"Every man has suffered in the same way. But remember this: it's the little fellows that nag, not the big ones who are accomplishing things. They are wise enough to know that you must take people pretty much as you find them; and change them, if you change them at all, by kindness and encouragement, not by criticism and rebuke.

"There is, perhaps, no surer mark of folly than an attempt to correct the natural infirmities of those we love. The finest composition of human nature, as well as the finest china, may have a flaw in it; and this, I am afraid, in either case, is equally incurable; though, nevertheless, the pattern may remain of the finest value."

NOW, WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF THAT, GEORGES?

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The S. of V. Band is preparing to give a grand social dance at the rink next Tuesday evening, and if their plans are carried out it will undoubtedly be a very brilliant affair.

A congregational meeting of the Reformed Church was held last night for the purpose of coming to some definite understanding as to whether a new church edifice is to be erected or the project dropped. This question was never fully settled at the time it was being agitated some time ago, and something like $1,000 have been paid by the members to ward a new church. Mr. Harry Frey, the promoter of an electrical line from Springfield, through this country, touching Clifton, Cedarville, Jamestown, Bowersville and Port Williams, with a branch extending to Xenia, appeared before the County commissioners yesterday and asked that he be granted an extension of time to complete his road. He was given until June 1904.

Although it is a little late in the season, Xenia high school has arranged to play the Dayton Y. M. C. A. Junior team at the golf links Saturday.

DIET MENUS

Last week I was talking about a hotel having a series of special diets for patrons suffering from various ills which can be combated by foods. Think of the boon this is to the man or woman who must live about a great deal at hotels, or who suffers from a certain trouble and does not know how to eat to improve his health.

Here is a diet for advanced age or for angina pectoris. It is low in salt. The card suggests that no salt be added to the dishes. Cereals, for instance, are cooked without it; butter is fresh, unsalted butter, coffee is done away with, milk, butter milk, weak tea or coffee substitutes are given instead, alkaline mineral waters are recommended, soups are always thick and particularly nourishing, bread is always toasted or stale, zwieback is recommended and the only fresh bread is in the form of little French rolls which are well baked. An unsalted oil and lemon dressing is for salad. Meat, to be taken once a day only, is done in the simplest fashion, broiled, boiled or roasted. Chicken, lamb chops, beef, squab or mutton are recommended. To top off the meal ice cream, baked or stewed fruit and the simplest of puddings are allowed.

In glancing through the list of menus I find that in every case the foods are of the simplest kind, cooked in the simplest way. The less strain on the digestion the more easily the body can recuperate. People suffering from malnutrition are given plenty of starchy foods, cream sauces and thick soups, and to balance that stewed fruits and many green vegetables. Milk sugar is suggested, also cocoa and malted milk. If coffee is taken it is made rich with a hot milk.

Mary Ellen—"The ten pounds that you need should not take long to acquire if your digestion is perfect. Drink plenty of milk, increase the amount of butter and distribute it well through your food. A tablespoon of olive oil three times a day will also fatten and if it is taken with the same amount of grape juice, the oil will not be tasted.

ANOTHER HE-MAN.

Jake Reuben plows his stony acres, but not because he likes that toil; he looks upon all men as fakers who boost the joys of tilling soil. He'd like to be a famed attorney and battle with his peers in court; but up the furrow he must journey, or feel himself a tinnhorn sport. He'd like to be a leading banker, with bonds and money as his tools; but vainly does he yearn and hanker—he still must drive his claybank mules. He has his dreams of high endeavor, but as he toils he knows full well his dreams will find fulfillment never—he must have corn and hay to sell. His hands are strewn with corns and blisters from moiling in his rocky hills; he must support his ailing sisters, who try each day new brand of pills. Without him they'd have no resources, and to the poor house they must go; so he pursues his humdrum courses and shoves his mule team to and fo. When toiling with his plows and listsers he has a weary, tragic mien, but when he's with his aching sisters his face is bright, his smile serene. So all his days he'll go on sweating, a humble he-man, known to few, but never for an hour forgetting the dreams that never could come true.

Today's Talk

PLEASE DON'T RUN AWAY

Stevenson once wrote: "You cannot run away from a weakness; you must sometime fight it out or perish, and if that be so, why not now, and where you stand?"

I met an old friend the other day. I had not seen him since we were boys together. I remembered his weakness of being afraid to risk things. The years had not changed him. He still bemoaned his "luck." He was still afraid—but now he is no longer with that vast wealth of youthful daring that he once had. It has passed with the years.

Please don't run away from your weaknesses. Give them battle now—and at once. Have it out who shall win and be master!

Ah, it is a divine thing to spur the little peoples of this world to be helpful—the one to the other. And how pernicious to starve your own spirit—and then to sneak up to steal the last shred of hope that clings to someone else.

It is vastly more evil to steal hope from a man than his money. He can set about again to earn his dollar loss—but who is he that can win back lost hope?

Surely there are wretchedness, despair, ill health, and base conditions all about us all, But we can walk right thru them, as a man can walk thru thick, deep mud—even tho he may own no boots.

God lives—to be used. There is no sounder fact than this!

Don't run away. Stand your ground. Map out a plan—and then go to it. Fail you may. But what of it? Is not striving the very garment of success?

There is something pathetically grand about the one who strives and does not win—but there is every tint of tragedy in the eyes of him who will not try.

Say this to yourself: "Well, at any rate, I shall not run away!"

And I, for one, will bank on—YOU.

WHAT THANKSGIVING MEANS TO ALL OF US.

We live in a land where there is less of war breeding hatred, more of human comradeship and contentment, more of wealth and comfort, more of privilege and opportunity than any other has ever known. We are citizens of a representative republic where public opinion is dominant in government. It is only necessary that this public opinion shall continue to be in the future, as it has been in the past, enlightened and just, to make of our government the most perfect expression of the wisest and loftiest political purposes of men it is possible within human limitations to evolve.

We do not know that God is more the friend of one nation than of another. We know that He helps those who help themselves. This nation is our rich heritage from those who through service and sacrifice have made it what it is. It is our duty and opportunity to transmit that heritage undiminished, hat Thanksgiving may not lose its meaning to those who come after us. Dedication to that task is the really worth while sentiment of Thanksgiving Day.

BUSINESS FRIENDSHIP.

A sermon on the gospel of business is contained in an editorial in the Miami Herald in the following: "An interesting illustration of the passing of business hatred is shown upon the last page of the special edition of The Herald for Tuesday. This page contains an advertisement in which are set forth hearty, congratulations to the First National Bank from the other banks of the city upon the completion of its new building."

It is perhaps that spirit among Miami business men that has made of it the "Magic City." When men who are competing for business along such honorable lines that they still consider themselves co-workers for the common good of the city, and can congratulate each other upon any extraordinary success they magice city is easily accounted for.

Continuing, the Herald says: "It is a decidedly significant thing that the business world has learned that friendship is the only safe basis on which to build commercial life. Some day the lesson will be learned in some other fields, such as international policies."

COSTLY CHAIN LETTERS.

The Saturday Evening Post presents some totals in regard to chain letters which should be of interest to the many victims of these missives. If the sender of a single chain letter were successful in his attempts to have it sent by each of nine different persons to nine other persons, and so on for 10 sendings, more than three billion people would receive such letters. That would mean somewhere around seventy millions of dollars for postage and tons of stationery, all wasted on a very useless communication.

Fortunately not all the receivers of these silly and occasionally harmful documents are fools enough to forward them. The chain is broken frequently, but not so frequently as it should be. Timid and superstitious folk who are afraid not to forward such letters are to be both pitied and blamed. If they wish to be classed among the same and wholesome-minded they should join the increasing ranks of those who cheerfully and promptly consign all chain letters to the waste basket.

THE SIN OF "NAGGING."

Here we are, all travelers over the same rough road together; and instead of cheering each other along we spend a good portion of the journey in criticism and nagging and the vain effort to get others to do things as we think they ought to be done. How different history might have been if the great men of the world had had a little encouragement, instead of a constant stream of criticism and abuse!

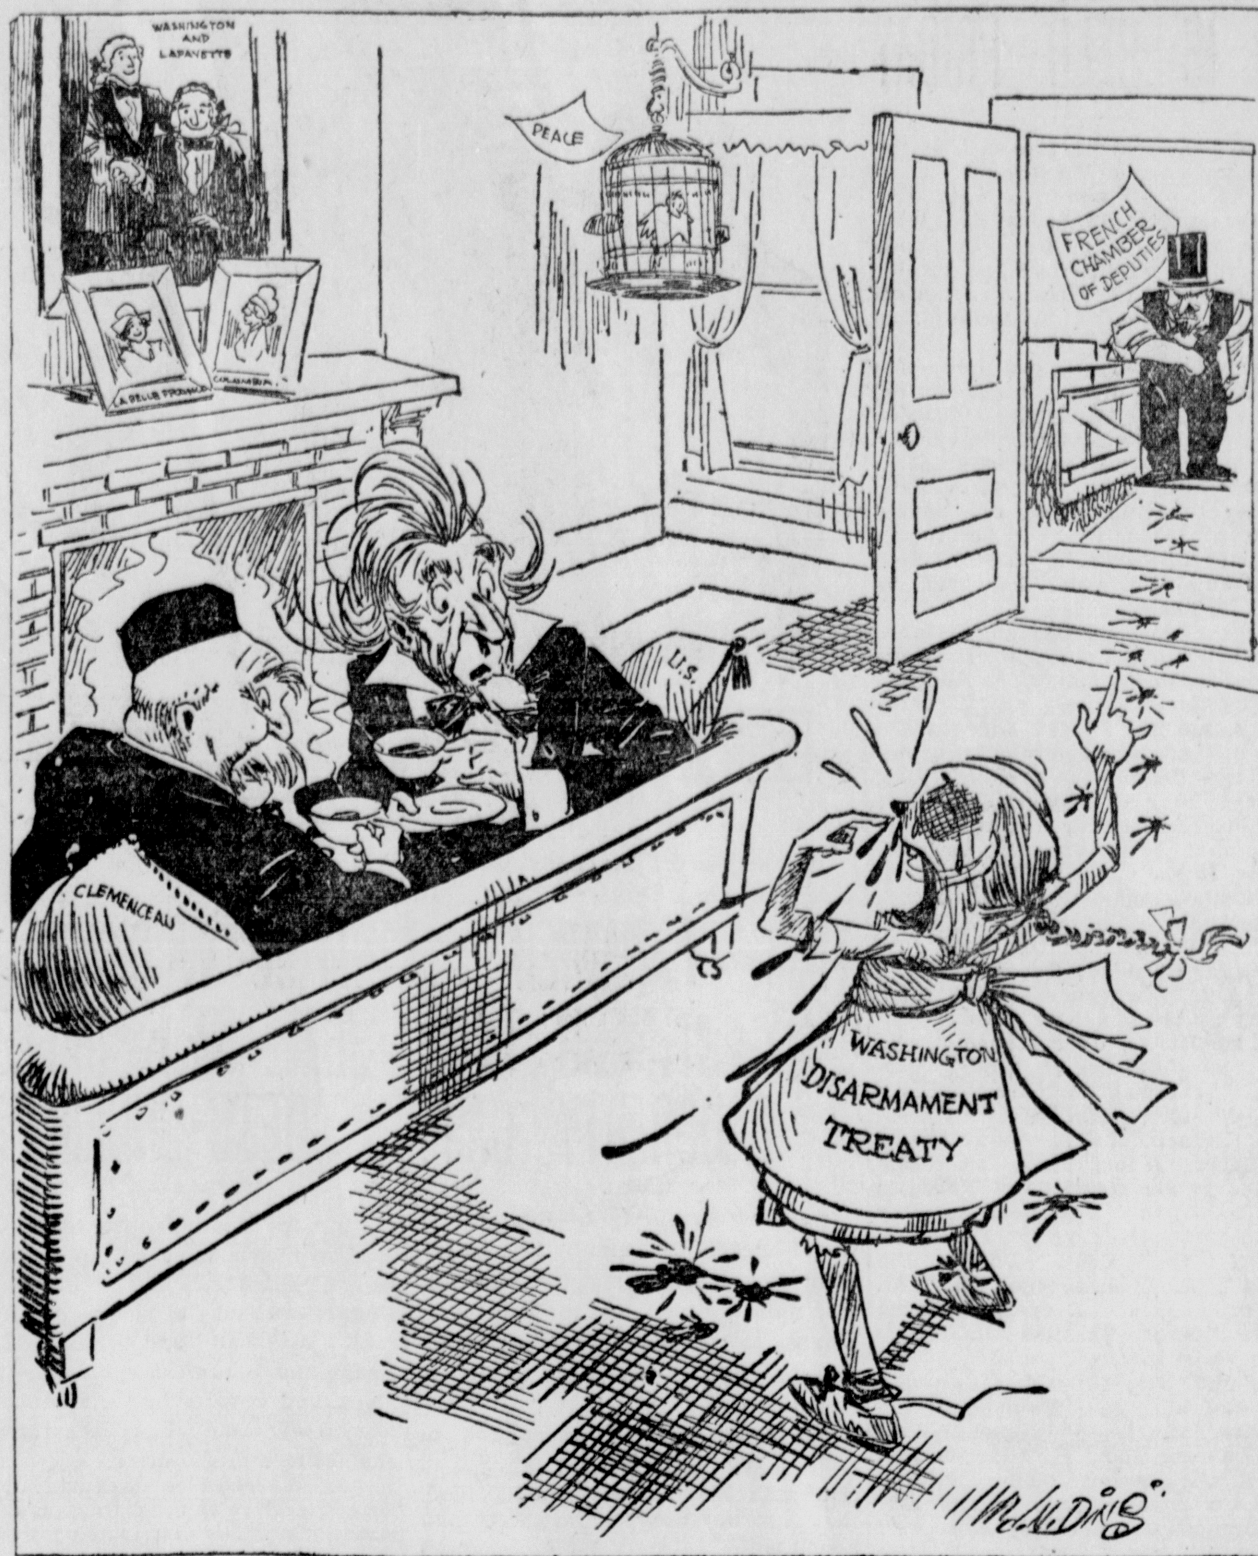

"Lincoln was called a 'despot,' a 'tyrant' waging a war 'to free the blacks and enslave the whites,' a war that could have been settled long before, his critics said, if he had only had sense enough to take their advice. No other man in history has ever been more persistently nagged.

"Even Jesus of Nazareth had his share of nagging. He, too, found that no one can please the naggers, no matter what he does. 'John came, neither eating nor drinking,' He said, 'and you said, "he hath a devil." I came eating and drinking and you said, "Behold a man gluttonous and a wine-bibber."'

"Every man has suffered in the same way. But remember this: it's the little fellows that nag, not the big ones who are accomplishing things. They are wise enough to know that you must take people pretty much as you find them; and change them, if you change them at all, by kindness and encouragement, not by criticism and rebuke.

"There is, perhaps, no surer mark of folly than an attempt to correct the natural infirmities of those we love. The finest composition of human nature, as well as the finest china, may have a flaw in it; and this, I am afraid, in either case, is equally incurable; though, nevertheless, the pattern may remain of the finest value."

NOW, WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF THAT, GEORGES?

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The S. of V. Band is preparing to give a grand social dance at the rink next Tuesday evening, and if their plans are carried out it will undoubtedly be a very brilliant affair.

A congregational meeting of the Reformed Church was held last night for the purpose of coming to some definite understanding as to whether a new church edifice is to be erected or the project dropped. This question was never fully settled at the time it was being agitated some time ago, and something like $1,000 have been paid by the members toward a new church.

Mr. Harry Frey, the promoter of an electrical line from Springfield, through this country, touching Clifton, Cedarville, Jamestown, Bowersville and Port Williams, with a branch extending to Xenia, appeared before the County commissioners yesterday and asked that he be granted an extension of time to complete his road. He was given until June 1904.

Although it is a little late in the end team of Xenia high school has arranged to play the Dayton Y. M. C. A. Junior team at the golf links Saturday.

DIET MENUS

Last week I was talking about a hotel having a series of special diets for patrons suffering from various ills which can be combated by foods. Think of the boon this is to the man or woman who must live about a great deal at hotels, or who suffers from a certain trouble and does not know how to eat to improve his health.

Here is a diet for advanced age or for angina pectoris. It is low in salt. The card suggests that no salt be added to the dishes. Cereals, for instance, are cooked without it; butter is fresh, unsalted butter, coffee is done away with, milk, butter milk, weak tea or coffee substitutes are given instead, alkaline mineral waters are recommended, soups are always thick and particularly nourishing, bread is always toasted or stale, zwieback is recommended and the only fresh bread is in the form of little French rolls which are well baked. An unsalted oil and lemon dressing is for salad. Meat, to be taken once a day only, is done in the simplest fashion, broiled, boiled or roasted. Chicken, lamb chops, beef, squash or mutton are recommended. To top off the meal ice cream, baked or stewed fruit and the simplest of puddings are allowed.

In glancing through the list of menus I find that in every case the foods are of the simplest kind, cooked in the simplest way. The less strain on the digestion the more easily the body can recuperate. People suffering from malnutrition are given plenty of starchy foods, cream sauces and thick soups, and to balance that stewed fruits and many green vegetables. Milk sugar is suggested, also cocoa and malted milk, if coffee is taken it is made rich with a hot milk.

Mary Ellen—The ten pounds that you need should not take long to acquire if your digestion is perfect. Drink plenty of milk, increase the amount of butter and distribute it well through your food. A tablespoon of olive oil three times a day will also fatten and if it is taken with the same amount of grape juice, the oil will not be tasted.

ANOTHER HE-MAN.

Jake Reuben plows his stony acres, but not because he likes that toil; he looks upon all men as fakers who boost the joys of tilling soil. He'd like to be a famed attorney and battle with his peers in court; but up the furrow he must journey, or feel himself a tinhorn sport. He'd like to be a leading banker, with bonds and money as his tools; but vainly does he yearn and hanker—he still must drive his claybank mules. He has his dreams of high endeavor, but as he toils he knows full well his dreams will find fulfillment never—he must have corn and hay to sell. His hands are strewn with corns and blisters from mowing in his rocky hills; he must support his ailing sisters, who try each day new brands of pills. Without him they'd have no resources, and to the poor-house they must go; so he pursues his humdrum courses and shoves his mule team to and fo. When toiling with his plows and listsers he has a weary, tragic mien, but when he's with his aching sisters his face is bright, his smile serene. So all his days he'll go on sweating, a humble he-man, known to few, but never for an hour forgetting the dreams that never could come true.

Today's Talk

PLEASE DON'T RUN AWAY

Stevenson once wrote: "You cannot run away from a weakness; you must sometime fight it out or perish, and if that be so, why not now, and where you stand?"

I met an old friend the other day. I had not seen him since we were boys together. I remembered his weakness of being afraid to risk things. The years had not changed him. He still bemoaned his "luck." He was still afraid—but now he is no longer with that vast wealth of youthful daring that he once had, it has passed with the years.

Please don't run away from your weaknesses. Give them battle now—and at once. Have it out who shall win and be master!

Ah, it is a divine thing to spur the little peoples of this world to be helpful—the one to the other.

And how pernicious to starve your own spirit—and then to sneak up to steal the last shred of hope that clings to someone else.

It is vastly more evil to steal hope from a man than his money. He can set about again to earn his dollar loss—but who is he that can win back lost hope?

Surely there are wretchedness, despair, ill health, and base conditions all about us all. But we can walk right thru them, as a man can walk thru thick, deep mud,—even tho he may own no boots.

God lives—to be used. There is no sounder fact than this!

Don't run away.

Stand your ground. Map out a plan—and then go to it. Fail you may. But what of it? Is not striving the very garment of success?

There is something pathetically grand about the one who strives and does not win—but there is every tint of tragedy in the eyes of him who will not try.

Say this to yourself: "Well, at any rate, I shall not run away!"

And I, for one, will bank on—YOU.

NINE BABIES DESERTED EVERY DAY IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 2.—Nine babies are abandoned every day in New York. This information is given by Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, an investigator for the Police Department, who advocates fingerprinting of youngsters as a means of identifying them.

"Nine deserted or murdered babies are reported to our office every day," Mrs. Hamilton said. "New York is the mecca for small-town scandal victims, and you can't blame the mothers, for no one will take in a mother with a baby in her arms. And what can she do if she is starving?"

Mrs. Hamilton said the number of abandoned babies would diminish if the child's footprint and the mother's finger print were attached to each birth certificate.

Wheat Cost $1.17 Bushel To Produce Accounts In Greene County Indicate

The cost of producing wheat on 19 Greene County farms in 1922 averaged $1.17 per bushel according to figures secured through the cost accounting operating in Greene County compiled by economists at the Ohio State University.

This cost summary along with the cost of producing hogs in 1921 was reported by R. F. Taber, Farm Accounting Specialist of the Ohio State University at two meetings of the members of the cost accounting ring held Friday, Nov. 24, one at the home of J. C. Franklin, south of Jamestown the other at the home of N. P. Ewbank, Cedarville.

The cost of wheat production on these 19 farms varied from 90 cents to $1.80 per bushel, with the $1.17 average. The interest charge on land and the taxes amount to the average to 53 cents of this total, leaving 64c to be distributed to the other costs, such as man and horse labor, seed, equipment charges, fertilizer and miscellaneous.

The yield from the various farms averaged 19.3 bushels which is above the average for Greene County, and this high yield is one of the main factors giving low costs in 1922. The average yield for 1921 on these same farms was 15.06 bushels and the cost averaged $1.60 per bushel.

The costs for 1922 show that the majority of Greene County wheat was marketed at a loss as the bulk of the crop went to market at figures running from $1.09 to $1.08 per bushel.

The highest yield per acre reported for the entire group was 27.3 bushels an acre, the cost being 95 cents per bushel. The lowest yield reported was 13.1 bushels per acre with a cost of $1.80 this being the highest cost for the entire ring. There is a pretty definite relation between yield and cost per bushel, in general, the high yields having the lowest costs.

The average cost of producing 100 pounds of pork during 1921 was $7.37 according to these figures. The average selling price for the 19 farm for the hogs was 9.04 leaving a profit of $1.67 per hundred to the producers. Not all the farmers made this profit however as the costs of seven farmers in the group ran above the average selling price.

The lowest cost per hundred was $3.03 and the highest $17.92. This is a very wide range of costs much wider than the average person supposes.

The following costs go to make up the total cost of pork production: Feed, 62.2 per cent; labor, 17.4 per cent; interest, 4.2 per cent; trucking and shipping, 4 per cent; overhead, 3.9 per cent; immunizing, 3.3 per cent; equipment 2 per cent; buildings and fences, 1.9 per cent; taxes and insurance, .07 per cent; miscellaneous, .03 per cent.

418,448 pounds of pork were produced by the 19 farmers, 29,854 bushels of corn and 45,150 pounds of tankage were fed to produce this quantity of hogs. This makes 7.1 bushels corn for 100 pounds of pork and 10.8 lbs. of tankage. This makes the tankage corn ration 1 to 50 pounds of corn.

One of the men who had the lowest costs fed 1 pound of tankage to 13 pounds of corn. One with the highest costs fed 1 pound tankage to 259 pounds of corn.

An interesting feature in the report as given concerned the amount of pork produced for each brood sow kept. The average amount was 1,557 pounds, the highest being 2299 pounds and lowest 681 lbs. It should be understood that this amount will vary with the age of the hogs when sold.

The cost accounting ring in Greene County is composed of farmers living in the vicinity of Cedarville and Jamestown. The following farmers are co-operating by furnishing complete records on their farming business:

TEAM OF COUNTY STOCK JUDGES OFF

Ohio's first juvenile livestock judging team to compete for national honors at the annual International Livestock Exposition to be held at Chicago, next week was sent from Greene County Thursday by the Ohio Bankers' Association.

At Chicago the Ohio youths will compete with similar boys' teams entered in the contests from practically every stock raising district in the United States. The exposition begins December 1 and continues over a period of a week during which the delegates will attend the entire exposition.

The four youths who will wear the Buckeye laurels at the stock show are Benjamin Beard, age 14, George Hare, age 17, Lawrence Brown, age 17, and Henry Saylor, age 16, all of whom live in Greene county, Ohio. These were chosen from more than 200 other competitors at the state stock judging contest held in Columbus at the State Fair August 30.

WHEN FARMING PAYS

An Analysis of the Economic, Political and Social Conditions Which Make Farming Profitable

By Leonard P. Bennett

Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the committee on Agriculture, has introduced a bill which, however ambitious, is worthy of study. It would create a huge organization, capitalized at $100,000,000.00, to market farm products—an organization with broad powers and world-wide in scope. The corporation is intended to eliminate the middlemen whom Senator Norris declares take more than 40 per cent of the selling price of commodities.

The sober view of profiteering leans toward the belief that profits themselves are not as a rule inordinately large, but that too many intermediaries exact a profit. Some estimates put the total cost of distribution as high as 69 per cent of the consumer's dollar.

Congressman Anderson of Minnesota remarks that, forty years ago with manufacturing on a small scale, cost of production was high and cost of distribution low, whereas now, with modern methods and large-scale production, cost of production is low and cost of distribution unduly high.

Senator Norris's marketing concern is chimerical—so ponderous and unwieldy as to be impractical. A middleman, bound together loosely, cannot hope to engage in co-operative enterprise on the same scale as the United States Steel Corporation, for example—a corporation under the management of a comparatively few experts—would do business in a private way.

The Esch-Cummins railroad act is the target for the barbed shafts of Senator Capper and other stalwart champions of agriculture, who vow that freight rates must be reduced. The "farm bloc" is especially antagonistic to the clause which tries to assure the carriers six per cent on their investment.

The average farmer falls into the contradiction of demanding rate reductions and at the same time insisting that the railroads buy more cars and locomotives in order to provide adequate transportation at crop moving time, business men assert. The railroads cannot buy new equipment unless they have a surplus for the purpose. A surplus can come only from current revenues or the sale of stocks and bonds. Either source, to be productive, implies a fair return to railroad stockholders.

The farmers' claim to cars and motive power when he needs them is indisputable. It therefore follows that he, as one important shipper, together with all other shippers, must pay enough for transportation to supply the necessary funds and establish the desirability of railroad securities beyond the shadow of doubt.

The deflation of railroad rates is

How many club women voted in the November election? Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, of Austin, Tex., department chairman for American citizenship want to know. They have issued a call urging every club to forward without delay the number of women in its membership going to the polls on Nov. 7. This information should be sent to Mrs. Pennybacker, No. 1734 North Street, Washington.

A short time ago the women's club gave a playlet at Bellefontaine. It was such a big success that mention of it was carried in the Ohio Federation press column with a statement to the effect that others interested in staging the production should communicate with Mrs. Robert E. Morris, No. 2648 Kirkwood lane, Toledo, state federation of literature chairman. Up to date, Mrs. Morris reports receiving 400 inquiries from all parts of the country.

The biennial report is ready for mailing. Each club holding direct membership in the General Federation is entitled to a copy. It will be forwarded upon receipt of postage weight 40 ounces. Orders should be sent to General Federation headquarters, No. 1734 North Street, Washington.

The most successful home-talent show ever conducted in Lima was that of the Lima Federation Nov. 21 and 22, according to reports made by the committee on arrangements. The sum of $500 was cleared. Half of the amount was placed to the credit of the Lima Federation's child-welfare department and the remainder will be expended for welfare work.

Ten chairmen gave messages at the Central district conference at Zanesville Nov. 21 and 22, followed by one hour's discussion by the various club women about their club problems and in quizzing the chairmen about plans, in which respective clubs were particularly interested.

It was shown by the interest manifest on all sides, according to Mrs. William N. Harder, of Marion, the district vice president, that this easily was the feature of the entire convention. Club women, it is evident, want the personal touch and the help growing out of a free discussion of their problems, and district club officials were highly gratified over the success of the discussion-quizz.

Already Marion has begun to plan for the entertainment of the Central district meet next fall. The last district conference was conducted in Marion in 1916 when Mrs. George Zimmerman of Fremant, was state president and Mrs. John W. Roby of Lima, was district vice president. Mrs. Zimmerman is now chairman of the department of fine arts for the state federation and Mrs. Roby is state federation chairman of music.

Mrs. B. F. Freshwater, of Delaware, has been named a member of the state federation committee of music in the Central district. Mrs. Freshwater is widely known in musical circles. She was at one time connected with the conservatory of music of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

Americanization classes have been inaugurated by the Willard Federation, which conducted a successful kindergarten. The Willard Federation asked for the enforcement of a curfew law and this is now being done. It had a luncheon meeting in honor of Mrs. Robert E. Morris of Toledo, literature chairman. Nov. 19, Mrs. Morris is much in demand as a speaker.

primarily a question of wages, taxes and other items which make up the railroad budget. A horizontal reduction in freight rates is not a panacea for the farmer's ills. It would make traffic congestion worse at crop-moving time unless accompanied by a reduction in railroad costs, and this is a difficult task, involving readjustments throughout the length and breadth of industry and requiring years for its consummation.

Pending far-reaching changes in the price structure, the farmer is entitled to a re-balancing of traffic that will make less bulky goods of higher value bear a larger share of the expense and permit grain, livestock, and other products of the farm to travel at rates that will leave the producer a fair profit.

Some railroads are earning substantial profits and could afford to reduce rates on agricultural products. Many others are earning very little. It is possible that gain to the shipper and the country lies in the direction of consolidation of existing railroad systems into eight or ten powerful organizations, virtually noncompeting and under government regulation.

Of the average railroad dollar about 46 per cent is paid to go for salaries and wages (mostly wages), 20 per cent for materials, supplies, and miscellaneous, nine and one-half per cent for fuel, five per cent for taxes, nearly three per cent for loss and damage injuries to persons, and insurance, about as much for depreciation and retirements, and about 11 per cent for interest on bonds and notes and for dividends.

W. B. Bryson, president of the Greene County Farm Bureau, represented this county, at the eight-county Farm Bureau Conference held at Chillicothe, last week. The meeting was held at the Ross County Farm Bureau offices.

One of the matters to come before the meeting was a movement to increase the membership of the Bureau during the coming year. Mr. Bryson, and Mr. Swearingen, of Pickaway County, were the two men who acted as chairmen of the meeting during the day.

The next meeting will be held at Circleville, in February, officers to be elected at that time.

Wheat Cost $1.17 Bushel To Produce Accounts In Greene County Indicate

The cost of producing wheat on 19 Greene County farms in 1922 averaged $1.17 per bushel according to figures secured through the cost accounting operating in Greene County compiled by economists at the Ohio State University.

This cost summary along with the cost of producing hogs in 1921 was reported by R. P. Taber, Farm Accounting Specialist of the Ohio State University at two meetings of the members of the cost account rings held Friday, Nov. 24, one at the home of J. C. Franklin, south of Jamestown the other at the home of N. P. Ewbank, Cedarville.

The cost of wheat production on these 19 farms varied from 90 cents to $1.80 per bushel, with the $1.17 average. The interest charge on land and the taxes amount to the average to 53 cents of this total, leaving 64c to be distributed to the other costs, such as man and horse labor, seed, equipment charges, fertilizer and miscellaneous.

The yield from the various farms averaged 19.3 bushels which is above the average for Greene County, and this high yield is one of the main factors giving low costs in 1922. The average yield for 1921 on these same farms was 15.06 bushels and the cost averaged $1.50 per bushel.

The costs for 1922 show that the majority of Greene County wheat was marketed at a loss as the bulk of the crop went to market at figures running from $1.00 to $1.08 per bushel. The highest yield per acre reported for the entire group was 27.3 bushels an acre, the cost being 95 cents per bushel. The lowest yield reported was 13.1 bushels per acre with a cost of $1.80 this being the highest cost for the entire ring. There is a pretty definite relation between yield and cost per bushel, in general the high yields having the lowest costs.

The average cost of producing 100 pounds of pork during 1921 was $7.37 according to these figures. The average selling price for the 19 farm for all the hogs was 9.04 leaving a profit of $1.67 per hundred to the producers. Not all the farmers made this profit however as the costs of seven farmers in the group ran above the average selling price.

The lowest cost per hundred was $3.03 and the highest $17.92. This is a very wide range of costs much wider than the average person supposes.

One of the men who had the lowest costs fed 1 pound of tankage to 13 pounds of corn. One with the highest costs fed 1 pound tankage to 250 pounds of corn.

An interesting feature in the report as given concerned the amount of pork produced for each brood sow kept. The average amount was 1,557 pounds, the highest being 2299 pounds and the lowest 681 lbs. It should be understood that this amount will vary with the age of the hogs when sold.

FARM PRICES ARE ABOVE LAST YEAR REPORT DISCLOSES

The marked extent to which farm prices have increased during the last year is shown by the November price report of Statistician West of State Federal Crop Reporting Service. Corn is 50 percent higher with average price for the state of 65c while a year ago the average was 40 cents a bushel. Hogs average almost $8.00 per hundred pounds as compared with $7.00 last year. Beef cattle are selling, taking the state as a whole, at $6.50 which is exactly $1.00 a hundred above the price paid farmers a year ago. Wool is twice as high and now sells at an average of 42 cents a pound. Sheep have shown a remarkable recovery from $3.30 a year ago to $5.50 today and lambs have jumped from $6.85 to $10.65 per hundred pounds. In fact all farm products show an increase with the exception of hay and potatoes. Potatoes are selling on the average in small lots from the farm at 94 cents a bushel and in large lots prices as low as 50 cents are reported. These increases reflect the increased demand for farm products.

The demand among farmers themselves has had much to do with the increase in corn prices. There are more hogs in the State than a year ago and more cattle on feed and there is a disposition among farmers to buy corn this year while a year ago they were holding back in their buying and allowing corn to move out of their locality.

Some railroads are earning substantial profits and could afford to reduce rates on agricultural products. Many others are earning very little. It is possible that gain to the shipper and the country lies in the direction of consolidation of existing railroad systems into eight or ten powerful organizations, virtually non-competing and under government regulation.

RAIDS CONDUCTED RESULT IN FOUR CALLED TO COURT

Two people were fined and two more are standing trial as the result of the activities of dry detectives working in Greene County this week.

H. A. Collins, who operates a pheasant farm on the farm of former County Auditor A. E. Faulkner, in Caesars Creek Township, was arrested Friday and fined $500 and costs by Magistrate J. E. Jones, when he pled guilty to a charge of possessing a still. The raiding officers dug up the 20-gallon still from the garden near Collins' house.

Mrs. Bertha Stephens, West Main Street, was fined $500 and costs by Magistrate Jones, when she pled guilty to a charge of possessing liquor, after raiding officers had confiscated some illicit liquor at her home. H. W. Kimbrough, East Main Street, colored, entered a not-guilty plea when arraigned on a charge of possessing liquor after officers alleged they obtained a gallon and one-quarter of liquor at the Rosenwald Club, which is operated by Kimbrough. His hearing has been set down for December 5.

The dry raiders Friday confiscated a still found on the Russell Peterson farm in Caesars Creek Township, and Peterson appeared before Squire Jones Saturday morning to enter a not-guilty plea. His case will be heard next week. The stills and confiscated liquor obtained are being kept at Police Headquarters.

The dry detectives whose activities led to the arrests Friday and Saturday are working out of the office of State Prohibition Director Don V. Parke. They are L. E. Epperson, R. L. O'Nan, C. H. Burks and J. M. Powell. They were assisted by Mrs. Winnifred Mason, constable of Xenia Township, whose part in the arrests the officers highly praised.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN WILL AMUSE XENIA

Well-known old Uncle Tom will again arouse sympathy, the daring blackguard Simon Legree, will once more make the blood of good men boil, and the plaintive little Eva will soar to Heaven tugging at the heart-strings of her audience, when Newton and Livingston present their version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at City Hall Theater Saturday afternoon and night.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal novel, has enjoyed longer success and popularity in the dramatized version than any other stage vehicle in American history, the piece is just as popular as ever. If age would kill Uncle Tom and his co-actors would have long since been out of jobs, but annual the "Tom shows" play to thousands of people because the appeal is always there and there is no stage production that attracts young America so strongly.

Newton and Livingston's production is a modernized version of the ancient piece. Not that the text has been changed but that Eliza crossing anything else but the ice, or that Legree punishes Uncle Tom with anything else but a black-snake whip, but that the original version has been made brighter and snappier, and the whole interspersed with many novelty numbers. The show is coming here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

The Famous Juniors basketball team of this city was defeated by the Cedarville All Stars at the Miami Cereal Company court Friday night, 16 to 10.

The local team showed good pass work, but the shooting ability of the visitors enabled that team to nose out the Juniors. Parks opened the game by putting Xenia in the lead with a long shot from center and Jack followed with another, but when the visitors opened up they put the locals on the short end of the count.

Bratton and Wisecup starred for the visitors. The lineup and summary:

COURT NEWS

Says Agreement Ignored
That Miller charges breach of agreement and seeks permanent injunction against George Boyd, in his suit filed with Clerk of Courts Elam.

The plaintiff charges that he entered into an agreement with the defendant whereby he was to lease the latter's store room in Cedarville for two years at $30 a month, with the option of releasing the property for three years more at the end of that time.

The plaintiff declares in anticipation of that fact he bought out the restaurant in the room for $1,800 and spent $500 on improvements and now has a growing and profitable business. He charges, however, that although the agreement was made March 22,

Suggests to Suffering Women
the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a headache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Here is a woman who is so grateful and glad to be relieved from a painful and nerve racking physical condition that she wishes to tell all sick women.

CONTRIBUTED RECIPES

Reader friends have kindly contributed the following recipes:
Miss D. "Sour Cream Cake Frosting: Whip sour cream till stiff, then add enough confectioners' sugar to make stiff enough to spread. Add flavoring, and nuts if desired. Here is another recipe recently requested by a reader of your column:
Food For The Gods Dessert: Nine tablespoons of cracker crumbs, two tablespoons of baking powder, two cups of sugar, one pound of English Walnuts, one-half pound of stoned dates, Cut nuts and dates (not too finely) and add them to a mixture made of the cracker crumbs, sugar and baking powder. Then stir in six well-beaten eggs, spread on a buttered paper in a flat pan, and bake for thirty minutes in a slow oven. Serve with whipped cream."

Mrs. C. J. S.: "I am very glad to send you the following sour cream filling recipe, to publish for 'L. B.' A number of our best cooks in this vicinity have used it for at least twenty-five years and know it to be tried and tested.
Sour Cream Nut Filling for Cake: One cup of sour cream, one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of chopped nut meats (hickory, butternuts or w.-l. nuts may be used—I prefer butternuts.) Cook these ingredients together until thick. This will cover a large three-layer cake.
Mrs. J.: "Sour Cream Cake Frosting: One cup sour cream, one cup granulated sugar and butter size of a walnut; put these three ingredients into a pan and boil till it thickens; then remove from stove and beat till cool. Now add one-half cup of ground walnut meats and one teaspoon of vanilla. Spread between layers and also on top of cake. For a good-sized cake, double this recipe. This frosting must be stirred constantly, to prevent scorching."

HELEN RALSTROM SUGGESTS A PARTY
CHAPTER 42

Scarcely conscious that I was doing I read what Helen had written.
"Do come and take me for a long ride in the country, as long as we aren't to work. Get some others and we'll have a party, stay to dinner and dance. You say your mother is all right now, so you have no excuse."

I sat down feeling suddenly weak. No! He's gone for the day. I tried to restrain them. I had spent all my time for two weeks waiting upon Walter's mother, never complaining, and when she was better—instead of taking me out, thinking of me—he was taking the day off with Helen Ralstrom.

I dropped my veil so the Jap would not see my tears and asked:
"Will Mr. Page be back?"
"No. He's gone for the day."
"Did he go in the car?"
"He went in a sedan, a servant, but the automobile Jap showed no surprise as he answered:
"Yes, Madame."

I left at once and hurried home. I had been gone longer than I intended as it was.

"You took plenty of time for your walk," Mrs. Page said fretfully, and at once asked me to do several things for her. She kept me running for half an hour. After Claire left she said:
"Please do not leave me again until I am able to wait upon myself. It is not pleasant to ask strangers, even friends, to wait upon me. I hope you'll not delegate your duty to another again."

I bit my lips to keep back an impatient reply. But when I looked at her pale thin face I suddenly felt pity for the high spirited old lady who while disapproving of me in many ways really wanted me with her. After a moment she added:
"When one has a daughter they naturally look to her."

It was the first time she had used that word in reference to me. Some way it made me feel suddenly very tender toward her. I leaned over and kissed her lightly, then said:
"I won't leave you again until you are able to get around the house." She was now sitting up, but too weak to talk.

"I hope not!"
The words as well as the tone were ungracious. Yet I took no offense. The warm feeling that had flashed over me when she called me "daughter" still remained.

But after she dozed off my mind reverted to the note I had found in the studio.

What did Helen Ralstrom mean by throwing herself at Walter as she did? Was it a deliberate plan to take him from me—if she could? Was it only the careless girl's desire to have a good time?

He was gay, thoughtless, childish, seemed to think when anything appeared to him. He had a boyish love of a good thing, and was always ready to make one of a party on pleasure bent. I must not think there be anything wrong; it made me too unhappy.

Dinner time came but no husband. Just as Jennie came and asked if she should wait longer, or if I would give my dinner, the telephone rang. It was Walter. He said:
"I'm out on the island. Doreen! Don't wait dinner. Having a jolly time, just into ran Grace and Harter, and some others. It's too bad you aren't along. I knew Walter would have a fit if I suggested it. I may be late. Don't sit up, dear.

He hung up before I could say a word. Yet I was not quite as unhappy as I had been before he telephoned. He had said it was too bad I wasn't along, had been evidently doing nothing that precluded my presence. I would trust him. I would not make myself so unhappy.

I had my dinner with Mrs. Page. Jennie set up a small table and we ate cozily; she delighted that I did not leave her to go into the dining room. Afterward I read to her, telling her when she asked—that Walter had telephoned would not be at home until late. After I had fixed her for the night, she said:
"You are very good to me, Doreen. She drew my face down, and for the first time kissed me. I went into my own room to wait for Walter, almost happy. Perhaps in time she would love me a little.

To Be Continued.

"I had eczema on my left arm and it spread all over my body. It broke out in little, red pimples and itched and burned, and I would scratch until the skin would break and scales formed. I could not do my work, and I was in torture day and night.

"My mother saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I bought more and I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, with the Cuticura Soap, when I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. A. W. Crawford, Nebo, Ill.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN
WILL AMUSE XENIA

Well-known old Uncle Tom will again arouse sympathy, the daring blackguard Simon Legree, will once more make the blood of good men boil, and the pliant little Eva will soar to Heaven tugging at the heart-strings of her audience, when Newton and Livingston present their version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at City Hall Theater Saturday afternoon and night.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal novel, has enjoyed longer success and popularity in the dramatized version than any other stage vehicle in American history, the piece is just as popular as ever. If age would kill Uncle Tom and his co-actors would have long since been out of jobs, but annual the "Tom shows" play to thousands of people because the appeal is always there and there is no stage production that attracts young America so strongly.

Newton and Livingston's production is a modernized version of the ancient piece. Not that the text has been changed, not that Eliza crossing anything else but the ice, or that Legree punishes Uncle Tom with anything else but a black-snake whip, but that the original version has been made brighter and snappier, and the whole interspersed with many novel numbers. The show is coming here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

XENIA TEAM LOSES
TO CEDARVILLE 5

The Famous Juniors basketball team of this city was defeated by the Cedarville All Stars at the Miami Cereal Company court Friday night, 16 to 10.

The local team showed good pass work, but the shooting ability of the visitors enabled that team to nose out the Juniors. Parks opened the game by putting Xenia in the lead with a long shot from center and Jack followed with another, but when the visitors opened up they put the locals on the short end of the count.

Bratton and Wisecup starred for the visitors. The lineup and summary:

Famous Juniors (10) Cedarville (16)
P. Smith (c) RF McCoy
Jack LF Bratton
Hill C Wisecup
Parks LG Nagley (c)
Claire RG Jeffries

Substitutions: Xenia—R. Smith for Claire. Field Goals—Parks 1, Jack 2, Hill 1, R. Smith 1, Bratton 2, Wisecup 4, Nagley 2. Referee: Horney. Two more games have been booked between the teams.

COURT NEWS

Says Agreement Ignored
Thad Miller charges breach of agreement and seeks permanent injunction against George Boyd, in his suit filed with Clerk of Courts Elam.

The plaintiff charges that he entered into an agreement with the defendant whereby he was to lease the latter's store room in Cedarville for two years at $30 a month, with the option of re-leasing the property for three years more at the end of that time.

The plaintiff declares in anticipation of that fact he bought out the restaurant in the room for $1,800 and spent $500 on improvements and now has a growing and profitable business. He charges, however, that although the agreement was made March 22,

Suggests to Suffering Women
the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Here is a woman who is so grateful and glad to be relieved from a painful and nerve racking physical condition that she wishes to tell all sick women.

CONTRIBUTED RECIPES
Reader friends have kindly contributed the following recipes:

Miss D. "Sour Cream Cake frosting: Whip sour cream till stiff, then add enough confectioners sugar to make stiff enough to spread. Add flavoring, and nuts if desired. Here is another recipe recently requested by a reader of your column:

Food For The Gods Dessert: Nine tablespoons of cracker crumbs, two tablespoons of baking powder, two cups of sugar, one pound of English Walnuts, one-half pound of stoned dates. Cut nuts and dates (not too finely) and add them to a mixture made of the cracker crumbs, sugar and baking powder. Then stir in six well-beaten eggs, spread on a oiled paper in a flat pan, and bake for thirty minutes in a slow oven. Serve with whipped cream."

Mrs. C. J. S. "I am very glad to send you the following sour cream filling recipe, to publish for 'L. B.' A number of our best cooks in this vicinity have used it for at least twenty five years and know it to be tried and tested.

Sour Cream Nut Filling for Cake: One cup of sour cream, one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of chopped nut meats (hickory, butternuts or walnuts). Cook these ingredients together until thick. This will cover a large three-layer cake.

Mrs. J. "Sour Cream Cake Frosting: One cup sour cream, one cup granulated sugar and butter size of a walnut; put these three ingredients into a pan and boil till it threads; then remove from stove and beat till cool. Now add one-half cup of ground walnut meats and one teaspoon of vanilla. Spread between layers and also on top of cake. For a good-sized cake, double this recipe. This frosting must be stirred constantly, to prevent scorching."

Mrs. B. "Ping Pong Crisps: Put two and one-half cups of uncooked rolled oats into a bowl and add two teaspoons of baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon of salt. Mix well, then beat two eggs which you have beaten well with one cup of sugar and one teaspoon of vanilla. Drop this mixture from a spoon onto buttered pans and bake in a hot oven. This recipe makes two dozen cookies.

Mrs. T. "Frosted Creams (fine for the school lunch box, as they stay soft). One pint New Orleans molasses, one-half cup of granulated sugar, one cup of lard, one cup of butter or sour milk, two and one-half teaspoons of soda (this seems a lot to use, but it is not too much—level teaspoons), one tablespoon of ground ginger and flour to make a stiff batter. Cream lard and sugar together, add the other ingredients, mix well and let rest overnight. In the morning roll thin and bake. When cool, ice with plain white icing."

HELEN RALSTROM SUGGESTS A PARTY
CHAPTER 42

Scarcely conscious that I was doing I read what Helen had written. "Do come and take me for a long ride in the country, as long as we aren't to work. Get some others and we'll have a party, stay to dinner and dance. You say your mother is all right now, so you have no excuse."

I sat down feeling suddenly weak. Her words as well as the tone were ungracious. Yet I took no offense. The warm feeling that had flashed over me when she called me "daughter" still remained.

But after she dozed off my mind reverted to the note I had found in the studio.

What did Helen Ralstrom mean by throwing herself at Walter as she did? Was it a deliberate plan to take him from me—if she could? Was it only the careless girl's desire to have a good time?

He was gay, thoughtless, seldom stopped to think when anything appealed to him. He had a boyish love of a good thing, and was always ready to make one of a party on pleasure bent. I must not think there was anything wrong; it made me too unhappy.

Dinner time came but no husband. Just as Jennie came and asked if she should wait longer, or if I would give my dinner, the telephone rang. It was Walter. He said:

"I'm out on the Island. Doreen! Don't wait dinner. Having a jolly time, just into ran Grace and Harter, and some others. It's too bad you aren't along. I knew Mater would have a fit if I suggested it. I may be late. Don't sit up, dear."

He hung up before I could say a word. Yet I was not quite as unhappy as I had been before he telephoned. He had said it was too bad I wasn't along, had been evidently doing nothing that precluded my presence. I would trust him. I would not make myself so unhappy.

I had my dinner with Mrs. Page. Jennie set up a small table and we ate cozily; she delighted that I did not leave her to go into the dining room. Afterward I read to her, telling her—when she asked—that Walter had telephoned would not be at home until late. After I had fixed her for the night, she said:

"You are very good to me, Doreen. She drew my face down, and for the first time kissed me. I went into my own room to wait for Walter, almost happy. Perhaps in time she would love me a little."

To Be Continued.
